NON-GAAP MEASURES. While Worthington Industries reports its results in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles in the United States, or GAAP, certain statements made in these materials include or make reference to adjusted EBITDA, a "non-GAAP" measure. This measure is included to provide investors additional useful information regarding Worthington Industries' financial results and is not a substitute for its comparable GAAP measure. An explanation of this non-GAAP measure, and a reconciliation of this non-GAAP measure to its most directly comparable GAAP measure, is included in the Appendix. Descriptions of this and many of our other non-GAAP measures are also included in Worthington Industries' SEC reports.

USE OF CERTAIN TERMS. As used in these materials:

The term "Adjusted EBITDA" is defined as Adjusted Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization, and consists of EBITDA (calculated by adding or subtracting, as appropriate, interest expense, income tax expense and depreciation and amortization to/from net earnings attributable to controlling interest), which is further adjusted to exclude impairment and restructuring charges (gains) as well as other items that management believes are not reflective of, and thus should not be included when evaluating the performance of its ongoing operations.

RECONCILIATION OF NON-GAAP MEASURES

Worthington has provided in this presentation certain financial information that has not been prepared in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("non-GAAP"). Non-GAAP measures should not be considered in isolation from, or as a substitute for, financial information calculated in accordance with GAAP.

Adjusted Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization (Adjusted EBITDA). Adjusted EBITDA consists of EBITDA (calculated by adding or subtracting, as appropriate, interest expense, income tax expense and depreciation and amortization to/from net earnings attributable to controlling interest), which is further adjusted to exclude impairment and restructuring charges (gains) as well as other items that management believes are not reflective of, and thus should not be included when evaluating the performance of its ongoing operations. Management uses adjusted EBITDA as a measure of operating performance and to engage in financial and operational planning because it believes this measure provides additional perspective and, in some circumstances are more closely correlated to, the performance of the Company's ongoing operations. Additionally, management believes this non-GAAP measure provides useful information to investors because it allows for meaningful comparisons and analysis of trends in Worthington's businesses and enables investors to evaluate operations and future prospects in the same manner as management.
